DIRECTORS' REPORT FOR THE YEAR ENDED 31 DECEMBER 2023

The Directors present their annual report and the audited financial statements of Kestrel Aviation Ireland No. 4 Limited (the "Company") for the year ended 31 December 2023.

Principal Activities, Business Review and Future Developments

The Company was incorporated in Republic of Ireland on 5 December 2018 as a special purpose company whose principal activity is the purchasing, leasing and disposal of jet aircraft.

In June 2023, the Company sold the aircraft to its current lessee. The head lease agreement between the Company and its related party had been terminated and the aircraft released to the new owner. Following the sale, the Company has ceased its leasing operations.

Principal Risks and Uncertainties

The Company operated as a lessor to global airlines. The Company's ability to succeed is dependent on the financial strength of its lessees, their ability to compete effectively in the marketplace and to manage the competitive environment in which they operate.

The lessees are responsible for ensuring that the aircraft has adequate insurance cover, and the Directors have put appropriate monitoring systems in place to ensure that the lessee remains compliant.

The Company was subject to various risks including geopolitical and airline risk as described below.

Geopolitical and airline risks

The Company leases aircraft to customers in multiple jurisdictions exposing it to (i) many and varying economic, social, legal, and geopolitical risks, (ii) instability in key markets and (iii) global health pandemics. Exposure to multiple jurisdictions may adversely affect the Company's future performance, position, and growth potential. The adequacy and timeliness of the Company's response to emerging risks in these jurisdictions are of critical importance to the mitigation of their potential impact on the Company's results and financial position.

Exposure to the commercial airline industry

As a supplier to and partner of the airline industry, the Company is exposed to the financial condition of the airline industry as it leases all of its aircraft to commercial airline customers. The financial condition of the airline industry is affected by, among other things, geopolitical events, outbreaks of communicable pandemic diseases and natural disasters, fuel costs and the demand for air travel. To the extent that any of these factors adversely affect the airline industry they may result in (i) downward pressure on lease rates and aircraft values, (ii) higher incidences of lessee defaults, restructuring, and repossessions and (iii) inability to lease aircraft on commercially acceptable terms.

The Directors have considered the potential risks based on the currently available information and are satisfied that due to the nature of the Company's operations there is no significant risk to the Company other than those disclosed above.

Going Concern

Following the sale of the aircraft and cessation of the principal activities of the Company, the Directors plan to realise the assets and settle the liabilities of the Company with a view to liquidating the Company within 12 months from the date of signing these financial statements. As a result, the financial statements have been prepared on a basis other than going concern.

In assessing whether the going concern assumption was appropriate, the Directors considered all available information about the future of the Company. As a result, the financial statements have been prepared on a liquidation basis. Assets and liabilities have been reflected at their respective recoverable or contractual settlement amounts.

Basis for opinion

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Emphasis of matter - non-going concern basis of preparation

We draw attention to the disclosure made in note 2 to the financial statements which explains that the financial statements are not prepared on the going concern basis for the reasons set out in that note. Our opinion is not modified in respect of this matter.

Other information

The directors are responsible for the other information presented in the Annual Report together with the financial statements. The other information comprises the information included in the directors' report. The financial statements and our auditor's report thereon do not comprise part of the other information. Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and, accordingly, we do not express an audit opinion or, except as explicitly stated below, any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

Our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether, based on our financial statements audit work, the information therein is materially misstated or inconsistent with the financial statements or our audit knowledge. Based solely on that work we have not identified material misstatements in the other information.

Respective responsibilities and restrictions on use

Responsibilities of directors for the financial statements

As explained more fully in the directors' responsibilities statement set out on page 5, the directors are responsible for: the preparation of the financial statements including being satisfied that they give a true and fair view; such internal control as they determine is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error; assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern; and using the going concern basis of accounting unless they either intend to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or have no realistic alternative but to do so.

Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs (Ireland) will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

A fuller description of our responsibilities is provided on IAASA's website at <https://iaasa.ie/publications/description-of-the-auditors-responsibilities-for-the-audit-of-the-financial-statements/>.

Kestrel Aviation Ireland No. 4 Limited (the "Company") is a limited liability company incorporated in Ireland on 5 December 2018 as a special purpose company whose principal activity is the purchasing, leasing and disposal of jet aircraft and is domiciled in the Republic of Ireland.

The accounting policies set out below have, unless otherwise stated, been applied consistently to all years presented in these financial statements.

2. Accounting policies

2.1 Basis of preparation of financial statements

The financial statements have been prepared on a historical cost basis in accordance with Financial Reporting Standard 101 'Reduced Disclosure Framework' ("FRS 101") and Irish statute comprising of the Companies Act 2014.

In preparing these financial statements, the Company applies the recognition, measurement and disclosure requirements of International Financial Reporting Standards as adopted by the EU ("EU IFRSs"), but makes amendments where necessary in order to comply with the Companies Act 2014 and has set out below where advantage of the FRS 101 disclosure exemptions has been taken. The consolidated financial statements of Kestrel Aircraft Funding Limited are prepared in accordance with IFRS and are available to the public and may be obtained from the Companies Registration Office, Gloucester Place Lower, Dublin 1.

The financial statements have been prepared in US Dollars (US$).

KESTREL AVIATION IRELAND NO. 4 LIMITED

Notes to the financial statements For the year ended 31 December 2023

2. Accounting policies

2.1 Basis of preparation of financial statements (continued)

Significant estimates and judgements

Information about significant areas of estimation uncertainty and critical judgements in applying accounting policies that have the most significant effect on the amount recognised in the financial statements are described in the following notes:

- Note 7. Recognition of deferred tax assets
- Note 8. Recognition and carrying value of aircraft and related assets
- Note 9. Carrying value of trade receivables

The preparation of the financial report in conformity with FRS 101 requires the directors to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the application of policies and reported amounts of assets, liabilities, income, and expenses. These estimates and associated assumptions are based upon historical experience and various other factors that are believed to be reasonable under the circumstances, the results of which form the basis of making judgements about carrying values of assets and liabilities that are not readily apparent from other sources. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

The estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed by the Directors on an ongoing basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognised in the period in which the estimate is revised if the revision affects only that period or in the period of the revision and future periods if the revision affects both current and future periods.

Judgements

The key judgements that could affect the reported results are those concerning the going concern and determining the classification of lease arrangements entered into by the Company. Going concern is disclosed in Note 2.2. All leases entered into by the Company as lessor have been classified as operating lease.

Estimates

Aircraft impairment

Aircraft are evaluated for impairment in each reporting period, or when there are indicators of impairment. Estimates and judgement are used in determining the value in use and fair value of aircraft. The Company estimates future lease cash flows, useful economic life, discount rate, residual value, and current and future fair values. The estimates and assumptions used are based on historical trends as well as future expectations. For some of these estimates including residual values, the Company utilises independent appraisers to determine the appropriate inputs.

Aircraft residual value and useful economic life

Estimates are used in determining the residual value and useful economic life of aircraft. The useful economic life and residual value of aircraft are generally estimated being 25 years from the date of manufacture and 15% of cost, respectively. Where more relevant information indicates a different pattern in which the benefits associated with an aircraft are consumed, management adjust the residual value and useful economic life estimates for those specific aircraft.

Residual value and useful economic life estimates of aircraft and related assets are reviewed at a minimum at each annual reporting date considering management's experience and knowledge of the industry, the Company's strategy (that relating to the acquisition, disposition and leasing of the aircraft) as well as external market factors.

KESTREL AVIATION IRELAND NO. 4 LIMITED

2. Accounting policies

2.2 Going concern

Following the sale of the aircraft and cessation of the principal activities of the Company, the Directors plan to realise the assets and settle the liabilities of the Company with a view to liquidating the Company within 12 months from the date of signing these financial statements. As a result, the financial statements have been prepared on a basis other than going concern.

In assessing whether the going concern assumption was appropriate, the Directors considered all available information about the future of the Company. As a result, the financial statements have been prepared on a liquidation basis. Assets and liabilities have been reflected at their respective recoverable or contractual settlement amounts.

2.3 Revenue Recognition

Under IFRS 16 Leases, a contract is, or contains, a lease if it conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset for a period of time in exchange for the consideration and control is conveyed where the customer has both the right to direct the identified asset's use and to obtain substantially all the economic benefits from that use. The Company, as lessor, leases aircraft under operating leases and records rental income over the life of the lease as it is earned. The Company accounts for lease rental income under lease agreements that include step rent clauses on a straight-line basis.

Leases where the Company transfers substantially all of the risks and rewards of ownership to the lessees are classified as finance leases. All other leases are classified as operating leases.

Operating lease with the Company as lessor

Rental income from operating leases (net of any incentives given to lessees) is recognised in the Statement of Comprehensive Income on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

Initial direct costs incurred by the Company in negotiating and arranging an operating lease are added to the carrying amount of the leased asset and recognised as an expense in the Statement of Comprehensive Income over the lease term on the same basis as the lease income.

2.4 Finance expense

Finance expense comprises of interest expense on borrowings and financing fee amortisation. All borrowing costs are recognised in Statement of Profit or Loss Account and Other Comprehensive Income using the effective interest rate method.

2.5 Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents comprise of amounts due from banks and where applicable, overdrafts. They with original maturities of less than 90 days.

2. Accounting policies

2.6 Financial instruments

Recognition

The Company recognises a financial asset or a financial liability when it becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instrument. Purchases or sales of financial assets that require delivery of assets within the time frame generally established by regulation or convention in the marketplace (regular way trades) are recognised on the trade date, i.e. the date that the Company commits to purchase or sell the asset.

The financial assets held on the statement of financial position are simple financial assets which, in the form of receivables, are held to collect contractual cash flows through the underlying lease agreements on the aircraft. Accordingly, they continue to be classified at amortised cost under IFRS 9.

The financial liabilities held on the statement of financial position are all recognised at amortised cost.

Classification and measurement

On initial recognition, a financial asset is classified as measured at: amortised cost; fair value through other comprehensive income ("FVOCI") – debt investment; FVOCI – equity investment; or fair value through profit or loss ("FVTPL"). Financial assets are not reclassified subsequent to their initial recognition unless the Company changes its business model for managing financial assets, in which case all affected financial assets are reclassified on the first day of the first reporting period following the change in the business model.

A financial asset is measured at amortised cost if it meets both of the following conditions and is not designated as at FVTPL:

- it is held within a business model whose objective is to hold assets to collect contractual cash flows;
- its contractual terms give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

A debt instrument is measured at FVOCI if it meets both of the following conditions and is not designated as at FVTPL:

- it is held within a business model whose objective is achieved by both collecting contractual cash flows and selling financial assets;
- its contractual terms give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

All financial assets not classified as measured at amortised cost or FVOCI as described above are measured at FVTPL. This includes all derivative financial instruments. On initial recognition, the Company may irrevocably designate a financial asset that otherwise meets the requirements to be measured at amortised cost or at FVOCI as at FVTPL if doing so eliminates or significantly reduces an accounting mismatch that would otherwise arise.

The Company assesses the objective of the business model in which a financial asset is held at a portfolio level because this best reflects the way the business is managed, and information is provided to management. The information considered includes:

- the stated policies and objectives for the portfolio and the operation of those policies in practice;
- how the performance of the portfolio is evaluated and reported to the Company's management;
- the risks that affect the performance of the business model and how those risks are managed; and
- the frequency, volume, and timing of sales of financial assets in prior periods, the reasons for such sales and expectations about future sales activity.

In assessing whether the contractual cash flows are solely payments of principal and interest, the Company considers the contractual terms of the instrument. This includes assessing whether the financial asset contains a contractual term that could change the timing or amount of contractual cash flows such that it would not meet this condition. In making this assessment, the Company considers:

- contingent events that would change the amount or timing of cash flows;
- terms that may adjust the contractual coupon rate, including variable-rate features;
- prepayment and extension features; and
- terms that limit the Company's claim to cash flows from specified assets (e.g. non-recourse features).

De-recognition

The Company derecognises a financial asset when the contractual rights to the cash flows from the financial asset expire or it transfers the right to receive the contractual cash flows on the financial asset in a transaction in which substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of the financial asset are transferred. Any interest in a transferred financial asset that is created or retained by the Company is recognised as a separate asset or liability. The Company derecognises a financial liability when its contractual obligations are discharged or cancelled or have expired.

Impairment

The Company recognises loss allowances for expected credit losses ("ECLs") on financial assets measured at amortised cost and debt investments measured at FVOCI. The Company measures loss allowances at an amount equal to lifetime ECLs.

Loss allowances for trade receivables are always measured at an amount equal to lifetime ECLs.

Lifetime losses are estimated by comparing the outstanding receivables at period end, with post period end collections and security deposits deemed as credit enhancements. Any deficit is provided for based on estimates of probability and loss given default. The carrying amount of the asset shall be reduced directly. The amount of the loss shall be recognised in the Statement of Profit or Loss and Other Comprehensive Income.

Financial liabilities are either 'other financial liabilities' or 'financial liabilities at FVPL'. Financial liabilities at FVTPL are measured at fair value and net gains and losses, including any interest expense, are recognised in profit or loss. Other financial liabilities are subsequently measured at amortised cost using the effective interest method. Other financial liabilities include 'security deposits', loans, and borrowings', and 'trade and other payables' in the statement of financial position.

2.7 Aircraft and related assets

Cost

Aircraft assets are initially recorded at cost including directly attributable transaction costs on acquisition. Aircraft are subsequently measured at cost less accumulated depreciation and any impairment losses.

Purchase price allocation of acquired aircraft and related assets

Upon acquisition of an aircraft, the cost was determined through purchase price allocation based on the aircraft and related assets acquired - metal value, maintenance, and lease components. The Company employs appraisers in order to place a value on the assets acquired.

Maintenance rights asset

Maintenance rights asset represents the value in the difference between the contractual right under the acquired in-place leases to receive the aircraft in a specified maintenance condition at the end of the lease and the actual physical condition of the aircraft at the date of acquisition. A maintenance right asset represents the fair value of our contractual right under a lease to receive an aircraft in an improved maintenance condition as compared to the maintenance condition on the acquisition date. A maintenance right liability represents our obligation to pay the lessee for the difference between the lease end contractual maintenance condition of the aircraft and the actual maintenance condition of the aircraft on the acquisition date. The Company did not recognise any maintenance right liabilities in the current period.

Lease component asset and liabilities

At the time of an aircraft acquisition, the Company evaluates whether the lease acquired with the aircraft is at fair market value. A lease premium is recognised when it is determined that the acquired lease terms are above market value; lease discounts are recognised when it is determined that the acquired lease terms are below fair market value. Lease component asset and liabilities are capitalised as a portion of the Aircraft (and related) assets value and are amortised as lease revenue (for sale and lease back acquisitions) or depreciation, amortisation, and impairment (for portfolio acquisitions) on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

Aircraft

The Company depreciates aircraft (and related) assets on a straight-line basis to a residual value at the end of the useful economic life.

The useful economic life and residual value of aircraft and related assets are generally estimated as being 25 years from date of manufacture and 15% of cost, respectively. Where more relevant information indicates a different pattern in which the benefits associated with an aircraft are consumed, management adjust the residual value and useful economic life estimates for those specific aircraft.

Residual value and useful economic life estimates of aircraft and related assets are reviewed at a minimum at each annual reporting date considering management's experience and knowledge of the industry, the Company's strategy (that relating to the acquisition, disposition and leasing of aircraft) as well as external market factors. Changes are accounted for as a charge in accounting estimate.

Maintenance rights asset

The commencement of amortisation of maintenance rights asset is triggered by maintenance events. Following a maintenance event, the portion of the cost of the event that relates to the maintenance rights asset is capitalised to aircraft asset and is then depreciated on a straight-line basis over the remaining useful economic life of the aircraft. On termination of a lease, any remaining maintenance rights asset is offset against any remaining Maintenance reserves cash balances. Excess maintenance reserves are then released to the Statement of Profit or Loss Account and Other Comprehensive Income, recognised as Other Income.

2. Accounting policies (continued)

Lease component assets and liabilities

Lease component assets and liabilities are amortised on a straight-line basis over the remaining term of the related lease.

The assets' residual values, useful lives, and depreciation methods are reviewed and adjusted if appropriate as at each financial period end.

Disposal of aircraft

Gains and losses on disposal are determined by comparing proceeds with the carrying amount. These are included in the Statement of Profit or Loss Account and Other Comprehensive Income.

Derecognition

Aircraft (and related) assets are derecognised upon disposal or when no further future economic benefits are expected from their use or disposal.

Impairment

At each reporting date, the carrying values of aircraft (and related) assets are assessed for indications of impairment. If any indicator of impairment exists, an estimate of the asset's recoverable amount is calculated. An impairment loss is recognised for the amount by which the assets carrying amount exceeds its recoverable amount. Recoverable amount is the higher of an assets fair value less cost to sell and value in use. A previously recognised impairment loss is only reversed if there has been an increase in the asset's recoverable amount since the last impairment loss was recognised. The impairment loss would be reversed to the revised estimate of its recoverable amount but not in excess of the amount that would have been determined had no impairment loss been recognised for the asset in the prior years. A reversal of an impairment loss is recognised immediately in Statement of Profit or Loss Account and Other Comprehensive Income.

2.8 Maintenance reserves

Under certain leases, the Company requires lessees to make regular additional rent payments based on aircraft utilisation. In all cases the leases require the lessees to be responsible for maintenance and repairs, including major airframe and engine overhauls (major maintenance events) over the term of the lease. Under the terms of some leases, the Company is obliged to reimburse the lessee for the cost of major maintenance events (up to the amount of supplemental rent paid).

In certain circumstances, the Company as lessor agrees to defer the receipt of the lessee's compensation for the use of the aircraft until the lease end. The compensation is typically calculated on the basis of the condition of each major component at the end of the lease relative to the commencement of the lease. If each major component is returned to the lessor in worse condition, the lessee is required to make a payment to the lessor. Such payment will be calculated on the basis of condition measured by hours, number of cycles or time at an agreed rate specified in the lease. End of lease compensation is recognised as supplemental rent when such amounts are virtually certain and estimable. Maintenance costs incurred when an aircraft is off lease are recognised as an expense in the period incurred.

2.9 Leases

The Company leases aircraft to airline operators. The determination of whether an arrangement is or contains a lease is based on the substance of the arrangement and requires an assessment of whether the fulfilment of the arrangement is dependent on the use of a specific asset or assets and the arrangement conveys a right to use the asset.

Leases in which the Company retains substantially all the risks and benefits of ownership of the leased asset are classified as operating leases. Initial direct costs incurred in negotiating and executing an operating lease are added to the carrying amount of the leased asset and recognised as an expense over the lease term on the same basis as lease rental revenue. Leases in which the risks and benefits of ownership transfer to the lessee are classified as finance leases.

2.10 Other receivables

Trade and other receivables are recognised initially at fair value. Subsequent to initial recognition they are measured at amortised cost using the effective interest method, less any impairment losses. If payments received from customers exceed the income recognised, then the difference is presented as deferred income. Trade receivables include, but are not limited to, operating lease receivables, VAT recoverable and a number of other operating receivables.

2.11 Trade payables

Trade payables represent amounts due by the Company in connection with the carrying on of its trade. Such payables include but are not limited to, deferred income and a number of operating payables.

2.12 Security deposits

Security deposits on leased aircraft are generally paid by the lessee on the execution of the lease and are non-refundable during the term of the lease. The amounts are held as security for the timely and faithful performance by the lessee of its obligations during the lease and are included on the Statement of Financial Position. The deposit may be applied against amounts owing from the lessee for rent or returned to the lessee on the termination of the lease. The lease deposits are classified as financial liabilities initially measured at fair value and subsequently at amortised cost.

2.13 Foreign currency

Transactions, including income and expenditure, in foreign currencies are translated at the foreign currency exchange rate ruling at the date of the transaction. Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated to the functional currency at the foreign currency closing exchange rate ruling at the reporting date. Foreign currency exchange differences arising on translation and realised gains and losses on disposals or settlements of monetary assets and liabilities are recognised through profit or loss in the Statement of Comprehensive Income.

2.14 Taxation

Corporation tax is provided on taxable profits at current rates applicable to the Company's activities. Deferred taxation is accounted for, without discounting, in respect of all temporary differences between the treatment of certain items for taxation and accounting purposes which have arisen but not reversed by the reporting date except as otherwise required by IAS 12 'Income Tax'. Provision is made at the tax rates which are expected to apply in the periods in which the timing differences reverse, based on those tax which are enacted or substantively enacted for each jurisdiction. Deferred tax assets are recognised only to the extent that it is considered more likely than not that they will be recovered.

Income tax expense comprises current and deferred tax. Income tax expense is recognised in profit or loss except to the extent that it relates to items recognised directly in equity, in which case it is recognised in equity or in other comprehensive income.

Current tax comprises of the expected tax payable or receivable on taxable income or loss for the financial year and any adjustments in respect of previous financial years. The amount of current tax payable or receivable is the best estimate of the tax amount expected to be paid or received. It is measured using the tax rates enacted or substantially enacted at the reporting date.

Deferred tax is recognised in respect of temporary differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities for financial reporting purposes and the amounts used for taxation purposes. Deferred tax is not recognised for:

- temporary differences on the initial recognition of assets or liabilities in a transaction that is not a business combination and that affects neither accounting nor taxable profit or loss;
- temporary differences related to investments in subsidiaries, associates and joint arrangements to the extent that the Company is able to control the timing of the reversal of the temporary differences and it is probable that they will not reverse in the foreseeable future, and
- taxable temporary differences arising on the initial recognition of goodwill.

Deferred tax is measured at the tax rates that are expected to be applied to the temporary differences when they reverse, based on the laws that have been enacted by the reporting date. A deferred tax asset is recognised to the extent that it is probable that the future tax able profits will be available against which temporary differences can be utilised. Deferred tax assets are reviewed at each reporting date and are reduced to the extent that is no longer probable that the related tax benefit will be realised.

2.15 Share capital

Ordinary shares are classified as equity.

Incremental costs directly attributed to the issue of shares are recognised as a deduction from equity, net of tax effects.

The Directors of the Company undertake a review to determine whether an impairment provision is required in respect of the Company's aircraft and related assets. In the assessment of impairment, the Directors have considered the aircraft's current appraised market value and, if there is an indication of impairment, assessed its value in use. In determining the aircraft's value in use, consideration is given to contractual cash flows expected to be received under the current lease arrangements, as well as future proceeds expected from disposal activities at end of lease. Impairment arises in the year due to certain aircraft and related assets' recoverable amount being less than the carrying amount.

In June 2023, the Company sold the aircraft to its current lessee. The head lease agreement between the Company and its related party had been terminated and the aircraft released to the new owner. Following the sale, the Company has ceased its leasing operations.

In prior year, the Company has recognised no impairment charge during the year. Value in use was estimated using a discount rate of 8.25%. Net realisable value (being fair value less cost to sell) was determined using three external, independent aircraft appraisal firms having appropriate qualifications and experience.

8. Aircraft and related assets (continued)

Significant judgement is required when evaluating the inputs into the recoverable amount of the Company's aircraft. Reasonable possible changes at the reporting date to one of the significant inputs, while holding others constant, would have affected the impairment charge recorded by the amounts shown below.

Reasonable possible changes at the reporting date to one of the significant inputs, while holding the others constant, was considered for the variables set out below;

- Discount rate applied +/- 0.5%
- Uncontracted future lease rental rates +/- 10%
- Residual values +/- 10%
- Downtime between leases +/- 2 months

None of the above possible changes in significant inputs would have given rise to a materially different impairment charge for the Company's aircraft than was recorded for the year.

Maintenance and lease components

The Company recognises maintenance and lease components in relation to the acquisition of aircraft that were purchased on lease. Lease premium represent the value of an acquired lease rental above or below the market rate for leases of a similar type of aircraft, which is adjusted by relevant credit risk associated with that lessee. Lease premium are amortised on a straight-line basis over the remaining life of the lease.

Maintenance components represent the value of the return condition of the aircraft on lease when compared to the current market value of that aircraft, adjusted for current maintenance conditions. Maintenance components are capitalised to the Statement of Financial Position at the end of the lease in line with the Company's maintenance accounting policy.
